Carnival Proceeds Will Promote Sports Locally

Proceeds from the carnival scheduled for the arena on August 29 and 30 and September 1 will remain in Coleman and add to the sporting facilities for Coleman residents young and old.

The usual fair dealing Sports Association will present the various games of chance offering the players an even break with the law of averages plus the ever popular bingo. Bingo it is reported is run on the one win takes a prize. Those in charge feel that this type of game is favored by the Bingo fans locally as over the system that calls for multiple wins to take home a certain prize.

Refreshments prepared and served by local people under the catering of the Royal Purple and the nightly prize drawing for valuable prizes all go towards giving the carnival the festive spirit and adds to the Association funds.

Tickets sales are reported favorable at this time and it is pointed out that if stubs are turned in the first night, those tickets have a chance on the three prizes.

Preparations for the big event are taking up considerable hours from your volunteer executive yet it has not affected their many activities to promote sport facilities. With the swimming pool underway and in shape for more extensive work later, the executive are turning their thoughts to winter sports and the arena. It is hoped that a first aid room and a utility room may be fixed up before the hockey season rolls around once more.

All these things take time and money. Your executive donate many of their spare moments planning and working for you and your family. Show your appreciation by turning out to the Carnival at least one night.

The Eyes of The World Are On Canadian School Children

With Canada daily taking a greater role in world affairs, the eyes of everyone are focused on this country... they are focused on the future Canada, our school children. These young people are the hopes of tomorrow's world. The success or failure of it depends on them and our guess is they won't let us down. They are growing up in a world that is striving for world peace. They will be the leaders of tomorrow.

It is time for their return to school. They've had their summer vacation, but to many vacation has not meant only idle hours... they have been working and playing Deep Down they will be glad to get back to classes.

A modern building does not make a school. Competent teachers, good equipment and a school board and citizens who place education on its proper level, these are the things that make a school. These are the things Coleman has to offer. The equipment is here to mould the minds of children, training them to think and act for themselves training them to carry this country of ours still further.

Local Teaching Staff Complete Despite The Acute Shortage

Despite the acute shortage of teachers that is facing many schools, Coleman schools will open as scheduled on Sept. 2 with a complete and competent staff. This fact was related at the regular meeting Monday night during the comprehensive report given by principal Allen.

The report brought out the various problems that faced the authorities and the efficient manner in which these problems had been solved. Unexpected resignations and word that those chosen for the vacancies later notifying the board that they had taken other offers resulted in considerable work for the board. Mr. Allen's report listed the teachers hired and grades they will teach. The report also listed the manner in which grades will be switched from school to school.

Staffing Central school will two grades one with Miss Sudworth and Miss Alexander, grade 2, Mrs. McLean; grade 3, Mrs. Bond; grade 3, Mrs. Allen; grade 4, Mrs. McDonald; grade 5, Miss L. Johnston; grade 6, Mrs. Musprath; grade 6, Mrs. Montalbeti; grade 7, Miss M. Johnston; grade 7, E. Mascherin; grade 8, Mrs. Dunlop; grade 8, Mr. Kryczak; grade 9, Mr. Spillers; grade 10, Mr. Ondrick; grade 11, Mrs. Cousins; grade 11, Miss Mercier; grade 12, Mr. McDonald.

Cameron School, grade 1, Miss Dunlop; grade 2, Mrs. Mascherin; grade 4, Mrs. Beck; grade 5, Mrs. Oelke.

Shuffling of students from one school to another to alleviate crowding and the elimination of double grades was discussed. The decision to transport all grade 3 and grade 6 students from Cameron to Central school, and the transfer of 10 grade 2, 21 grade 4 and 9 grade 5 students from Central to Cameron was accepted. This plan will operate on a draw system and children will take an equal chance. It is felt that the elimination of double grades will do away with the system that only afforded a half time to each grade.

Use of the auditorium will be made this year for the extra grade necessary. The matter of desks will be shelved as it is felt the situation is satisfactory at the present time.

Scholarship winners was discussed and an announcement as to winners will be made at a later date. The board at this time spent considerable time in regards the marks attained by pupils last year. It was felt that results were satisfactory.

Permission was granted the Coleman Fire Department to use the school grounds during their competitions on Sept. 1. Further correspondence dealt with the school bus check up, trustees convention and the addition to Cameron school.

ST. PAUL'S UNITED CHURCH
Aug. 31 - Church Service, 10 a.m. Beginning Sept. 7, morning service 11 a.m. Sunday school 12:15 Evening services will begin Sept. 14 and will be at 7:30.

Fire Competition Highlight Labour Day Weekend

Competitions, water battles and demonstrations are scheduled for Coleman on September 1. Fire departments from Blairmore, Frank and Coleman will gather here to pit their skills and display to the public the extensive knowledge that they have attained.

Blairmore and Coleman will enter two teams each with single teams coming from Frank and Coleman Collieries. The late date prevented entries from other outside points as harvest work is now underway. It is expected that the event will be scheduled earlier next year with a larger entry resulting.

The eliminations of the hose coupling competitions will take place around 1 p.m. Each team will have two entries and the best time counts. The top four teams will enter the finals which are expected to get underway by 3 p.m.

In the interval between the eliminations and finals Blairmore and Coleman brigades will battle it out in a friendly water fight in the school yard.

Possibly the highlight of the day will be the fighting of an oil fire at 5 p.m. The Coleman brigade will ignite 500 gallons of oil in a pit between Jimmie's Coffee Shop and the Arena. A demonstration of fighting this type of fire by use of a fog nozzle will give Coleman residents an insight into the advances that their brigade has made in modern techniques.

Representatives of the Fire Commissioners Office will be in attendance, and serve as judges for the show. Trophies have been donated by the local brigade and are on display in Chalmers window along with the four individual cups. Prizes to the winning team will be donated by the Fire Commissioners Office.

Coleman town council has backed the local brigade both financially and morally. This is believed to be the first show of its type held in southern Alberta and will carry the name of Coleman still further. You owe it to yourself and your volunteer fire department to turn out for this show. After you have seen it you will be glad you did.

Council Hears Six Assessment Claims

The Coleman Town Council sat as a court of revision Tuesday August 19 when ten complaints were brought forward. Of this amount four were not entertained and the remaining six given some consideration.

The lone adjustment on property assessment was made on the complaint of John Jenkins and his assessment lowered by $235.00.

In the case of T. Lloyd and A. Sapeta a recommendation was made to the council for a lower rate for this type of business.

Court went on record as stating that the U.M.W. of A. in their considered opinion in not a trade, business or profession.

In the complaint of J. Chalmers, the court adopted the revised assessment made by the assessor.

The garage owned by B. Marasek was considered to be a private garage and therefore not assessable.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and especially hostesses Mrs. Edward Dase, Mrs. Frank Krish and Mrs. F. Rayman, those who sent flowers and the musicians Chas. Rayman, Magnus Julian and Steve Liska for the surprise party on our 35th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Krish

Former Resident Dies In B.C. Forest Fire

Word has been received of the death of Howard Gordon while fighting a forest fire in B.C. recently. Mr. Gordon was formerly assistant ranger at Coleman, serving under Harry Boulton. A man of forty years of age he leaves to mourn his loss five children.

The first fatality of the B.C. forest fires this season, Mr. Gordon perished when he became trapped by a fallen timber in the Tintagel area. Mr. Boulton tried to recall the exact time the deceased worked in Coleman and figures that it was around 1947. It is thought that he worked in the Bow Reserve after leaving here, later going to B.C.

HIGHWAY WORK PROCEEDING RAPIDLY

Motoring through the Pass is becoming smoother daily as the hard surface crews march steadily westward.

Gravel, watering and packing of the road through Coleman has been the main item of the past week, giving some measure of relief by filling in the pot holes between here and Blairmore. The first oil coat of surfacing made the Pass route still smoother with the final coat and chips yet to come.

Cousins' Story of Pass Is Well Received

The story that most people around Coleman have been waiting for has been released and is receiving acclaim from all who have read it.

A history of The Crows Nest Pass for the past hundred years, written as a thesis by James Cousins for his Master of Arts Degree, has been accepted by educational authorities and is being used by the Department of Mines at Ottawa for circulars that are to be released on the coal industry. A second copy has been turned over to the Calgary Public Library who are having it bound and added to their collection of fine works.

Comprising 200 pages, the story covers the area from the Elko Tunnel eastward to the section just west of Passburg. A comprehensive and factual report it demanded many hours of Mr. Cousins time checking the archives in Victoria and Edmonton, reading copies of every paper that has been published within that area. First mention of coal in this area the report states was made in the letters of Father De Smit a missionary in the Tobacco Plains area. De Smit's letters stated that he would look for fossils in the Elk River district. He knew that they could be found there as coal had been found in the district.

Feeling that Coleman people would be desirous of hearing more about this fabulous district, the Journal has contacted Mr. Cousins and asked his permission to read the thesis and reprint excerpts from time to time.

Born in Wales Mr. Cousins came to Coleman 31 years ago teaching at the local school here for 22 years. During this period he made a host of friends and acquired a respect and admiration that is enviable. His many friends here felt that the town lost a valuable member when he accepted a position as teacher of English and Arts at the Lethbridge Collegiate Institute. His interest in the Pass area is still evident in his thesis and leaves the district with its only complete history for those that will follow in years to come.

SEVEN APPLY FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Seven from the Pass have applied for the nurses $100 scholarship to be awarded to the Grade 12 girl who has attained the highest average in her final examinations and is entering a school of nursing.

Three girls from Bellevue, two from Coleman, one from Hillcrest and one from Blairmore have entered their names. The winner will be announced in the near future.

The Association at this time wishes to thank everyone who donated raffle prizes and bought tickets to help raise funds for the scholarship.

Travelling Show Proves Unpopular. Cut Stay Short

Rocky Mountain Shows set up in Coleman last Friday and left town before their scheduled date due to the hostility that they were creating among the people here. Gambling losses were reported high in many cases and police felt that the shows should terminate their stay.

In issuing permission for the show to set up in Coleman those in charge assumed that it would offer diversion in the form of rides and various side shows. As it turned out the show was predominantly gaming tables. Heavy losses were reported early Friday and by Saturday street corner mumbblings had the citizens expecting trouble. Police Chief Antle reports however that no acts of violence occurred and the company left town without delay as requested.

WE APOLOGIZE

This issue of the Journal was to have carried a great deal of news thanks chiefly to the kind cooperation of our many friends. However as is the case in most business we have run into trouble this week and some news has been missed in this issue.

Copy going astray in the mails resulted in typesetters at Macleod not receiving the many items. We have attempted to rewrite as many items as we could gather again and time would permit. Through the kindness of Mr. Halliwell and his staff at Macleod we are able to bring you this paper as it stands.

If your news was missed give the Journal a call and let us know about it before next issue.

Rocks Arrive For New Memorial

Special rocks from Red Rock Canyon at Waterton Park have arrived for the new war memorial at the Canadian Legion grounds.

The Legion plans on starting as soon as possible to strip down the present memorial and face it with the colorful rock that has just arrived. Permission was granted by the council for this work some time ago and the Legion commended for their actions.

The new facing will guarantee a permanent structure of pleasing appearance.

MAPLE LEAF MAN LAID TO REST IN COLEMAN

Funeral services and interment were held here Aug. 20 for Steve Motyl, 52, of Maple Leaf, who died at Passburg recently.

Services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ondrick and at the Coleman Catholic church by the Rev. Dean L. Sullivan. Deceased was laid to rest in the Coleman Catholic cemetery following graveside rites conducted by Dean Sullivan and the First Canadian Benefit Society.

Surviving are a sister Mrs. J. Ondrick, Coleman and a sister Annie and a brother Joseph in Czechoslovakia.

Remodelled Store To Brighten Main Street

Mr. C. H. Gougas, Dept. of Public Works, of Red Deer arrived here last week to prepare for the renovating of the Coleman branch store of the Alberta Government Liquor Commission.

Mr. Gougas stated that he would supervise the work and wherever possible would prefer to hire local men. A twenty foot extension will be made at the back of the building with complete renovation scheduled for the exterior and interior. Plans call for the front to be rebuilt with glass blocks. A new heating system is also included in the plans.

The Coronation

LARGE NUMBERS OF CANADIANS are planning to visit Britain next year and to attend the coronation of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II. This historic event, which is already attracting widespread interest, is the thirty-eighth coronation to take place in England since the Norman conquest, and it is the fifth one to be held in the month of June. The British Ministry of Information has recently published some interesting facts concerning the coming coronation and the pomp and tradition which surrounds it.

Usually Held On A Sunday

Until the eighteenth century, we are told, the coronation usually took place on a Sunday or "some other solemn feast day", but for the past two hundred years this custom has been disregarded. Queen Elizabeth I was crowned on a Sunday but the coronation day of Elizabeth II will fall on a Tuesday. The crown, which is the central symbol in the ceremony, is the Coronation crown, or the crown of St. Edward. This crown has been worn by every sovereign since the time of King Charles, except at the coronation of Queen Victoria. On that occasion, the Lord High Steward carried the Coronation Crown throughout the ceremony, and the Queen wore the lighter Imperial crown, said to be the most beautiful and valuable crown in the world. It has not been decided yet whether Queen Elizabeth will follow the precedent set by Queen Victoria in this regard, or whether she will choose to have the Coronation Crown used in the ceremony.

Event Of Color And Pageantry

These and many other historic symbols will play a part in the proceedings which will mark the coronation of Elizabeth II, the first Queen to be crowned since Victoria became Queen on June 28th, 1838. As Princess Elizabeth the Queen was a familiar and beloved figure to the people of Great Britain, the Commonwealth and Empire, and the formal beginning of her reign will be a happy occasion. Great Britain has endured war and serious reverses to the national economy in the last two decades, but the coronation will be a colorful and joyous occasion and it is to be hoped that the reign of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II will bring peace and prosperity to her people.

Oil Boom Spreads To Areas In North West Territories

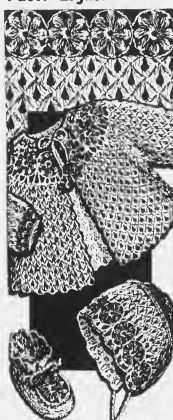

EDMONTON.—The oil boom which began five-and-a-half years ago near Edmonton is still spreading. Besides all of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and north-central British Columbia, the search is now taking in some 19,000,000 acres of the North West Territories. This is about the same as the amount of land under exploration on the prairies the year before the Leduc discovery. It is a very large acreage for such a remote region, and may be taken as evidence of the vitality of our oil development.

EXHIBITION HAD TO CANCEL CAMEL ACTS

VANCOUVER, B.C.—The law kept camels out of Canada recently. Several of the hump-backed "ships of the desert" were scheduled to perform at the Pacific National Exhibition. An official said the act was written off because American regulations enforced after Canada's outbreak of foot and mouth disease would prevent their return to the United States.

Funny and Otherwise

Woman castaway: "Good Heavens! Cannibals!"
Man Companion: "Now, now, don't get in a stew."

The small, slim man nervously stepped into the income-tax office.

He was doubtfully looking round when the inspector casually came up and asked:

"Yes, and what do you want?"
"Oh—er—nothing, nothing at all," replied the S.S. man. "I thought I would just like to see—the folk I work for!"

A Hollywood magnate was a very poor golfer, and ignorant as well. One day he was going round with a bishop and had a real off-day. After every fizzle he would indulge in a hearty burst of profanity.

The bishop admonished him. "If you don't respect me, sir," he said, "you should at least respect the cloth."

"Cloth, nothing!" snarled the other. "We're not playing billiards!"

"Women don't interest me. I prefer the company of my fellow men."

"I'm broke too."

Teacher: "What is a privater?"
Pupil: "Please sir, it's what you lend to anybody when they're going to tell you a secret."

"She's the gift of the gab—you've no idea! Her father was an auctioneer, and her mother was a woman."

"I hear Smith called you an idiot."

"Only in a roundabout way. He said that in the matter of intelligence you and I had nothing to quarrel about."

"Yes, I'm a cosmopolitan. My father was Irish, my mother Italian. I was born in a Swedish ship off Barcelona, and a man named McTavish is my dentist."

"What's McTavish to do with it?"

"Why, that makes me of Scotch extraction."

An official conducting a Government quiz called on Mrs. Jones and asked her what she did with herself all day.

"I keep the house clean, cook all the meals, wash the dishes, do all the laundry, mend the clothes and queue for food," she replied.

The official thanked her and made an entry in his notebook: Mrs. Jones—Housewife—No occupation.

"Why do they put bridges on violins?"
"To get the music across, I guess."

Downstairs: "Didn't you hear me pounding on the ceiling?"
Upstairs: "Oh, that's all right. We were making a lot of noise ourselves."

QUEEN MARY HELPS AT CHURCH BAZAAR
The SANDRINGHAM, England—Queen Mary, 85-year-old grandmother of England's reigning Queen, sold 256 worth of goods in 90 minutes behind the fancy articles stall at a church bazaar here. She left the stall when there was nothing more to sell.

NOT EXACTLY FRIENDLY—"Somebody save me" seems to be the distressed reaction of 14-month-old John Bader, of Farmington, Minn., as a rabbit nuzzles his neck. The bunny was one of several entered in the Dakota county fair by John's father, but the youngster apparently hasn't become used to the animals and became very vocal in his protest.

U.S. Will Not Hurry To Lift Cattle Embargo

OTTAWA.—The Canadian Government planned a quiet, patient wait for the United States to remove its six-month embargo on Canadian livestock and meats.

With foot-and-mouth disease eliminated, the Government officially declared Canada free of the tenacious virus and immediately informed U.S. authorities.

"But we don't plan to bring any pressure on them to remove the embargo," an official said. "We know the U.S. Government will consider the matter carefully and reasonably and act as quickly as possible."

Canada appeared to be in for a long wait. A Washington dispatch quoted Acting Chief S. O. Fadeness of the Agricultural Department's Bureau of Animal Industry as saying the U.S. will take no immediate action.

The American fear, as far as it could be ascertained here, is that the virus may still be lurking in some Canadian food locker. Until that fear is dispelled, it appeared the embargo will remain intact. Another view is that the U.S. will not act until after the U.S. presidential election in November.

Meanwhile, south Saskatchewan farmers in the former infected area, their activities curtailed since quarantine and buffer-zone controls were imposed Feb. 25 last, were free to restock farms with new livestock. The official declaration, issued under the name of Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said all restrictions on movement of livestock throughout Canada and all precautionary measures against spread of the disease in south Saskatchewan have been removed.

Prices Are Rising On Farm Products

OTTAWA.—Farm prices of agricultural products are going up for the first time in a year. The Bureau of Statistics reports the turning point came in June.

The bureau's index for June, based on 1935-39 equaling 100, stood at 263.7 compared with 257.8 in May and 260.7 in the same month in 1951. The bureau said the June gain was attributable mainly to higher prices for livestock, potatoes, poultry and eggs.

May Change Law So Drivers Can Pass On Curves

REGINA.—The law governing passing on curves on Saskatchewan highways is expected to be changed at the 1953 session of the provincial legislature to allow drivers to pass on some curves.

The anticipated amendments would bring the Vehicles Act in line with the way curves are being marked in this summer's program of painting white lines down the centre of all black-topped highways.

At present the Vehicles Act forbids passing on curves.

However, the white lines being placed on highways indicate that passing is allowed on some curves.

JELLY ROLL

Fun to make! Rolls well, so long as you avoid over-baking. For a gala dessert, top cut slices of filled roll with ice cream or whipped cream.

1 cup once-shifted cake flour
1 teaspoon Magic Baking Powder
3 eggs, separated
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup granulated sugar
6 tablespoons cold water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Line bottom and sides of 15x10 1/2-inch jelly roll pan with greased paper.

Preheat oven to 375 deg. F. (moderately hot).

Sift flour and Magic Baking Powder together four times.

Combine egg whites and salt and beat until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in 1/2 cup of the sugar.

Beat egg yolks until thick; gradually beat in water, vanilla and remaining 1/2 cup of sugar. Fold yolk mixture into meringue, then sift in dry mixture about a third at a time, folding to combine after each addition.

Turn into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven about 30 minutes.

Sprinkle with fruit sugar, cover with a tea towel, turn out, and peel off paper; working very quickly, trim off crusts, roll up cake and wrap in towel until set. Unroll to spread with any desired filling.

Supersonic Waves May Speed Germination Of Barley Seeds

EDMONTON.—Barley seeds and supersonic waves seem a queer combination, but the alliance could be a potent one if the experiments of George Obelenski prove successful. Already, tests being carried out by Obelenski in a laboratory of the University of Alberta's plant science department have proven that supersonic waves can be made to speed germination and growth of plants.

The "guinea pigs" for most of the experiments so far have been barley seeds but there's no reason, says Obelenski, why the treatment could not be applied to almost any plant.

The linking of supersonic vibrations and plants is an entirely new field and the Russian-born scientist says the surface has hardly been scratched yet although an encouraging start has been made.

In his experiments, he is using an ultrasonic generator, imported from Germany and used widely in a type of medical "deep massage" treatment for humans.

It sets up sound vibrations at the rate of 800,000 a second. This speed can best be imagined when one considers that the human ear can hear vibrations up to only about 16,000 a second.

ODDITIES In The News

Ten-year-old Richard Cimini, Pittsfield, Mass., failed to notice a newly-cleaned plate glass window and ran into and through it. "It was so clean I didn't know it was there," Dick said. He was all right after six stitches in a head wound.

Five girls from Auburn, Me., went on their vacation in a converted hearse which they decorated with red and white curtains on the windows. Eleanor and Marion Lewis, sisters, borrowed the hearse from their uncle, and used it as a truck, to travel to Washington with three girl friends.

Like the many-headed monster of mythology is a cabbage plant growing in the garden of Mrs. Michael Nunnenmacher, Niagara Highway, Ontario. Where one head usually grows there appears ten, no less, the largest about the size of a duck egg, truly a rarity in the vegetable kingdom.

Birds around the River Towry near Carmarthen, Wales, are doing most of their food hunting on land now. A bird swooping down the river for fish recently was caught by a salmon.

Gov. Henry F. Schrier of Indiana, a former fireman, doesn't want a horse to carry him to the cemetery when he dies. "When they carry my dust over that hill in the west," he told a convention of firemen here, "I want that last ride to be in a fire truck. I want to be a fireman till I die."

A big traffic jam developed in Camberley, Eng., when a whistle was heard, as though a police chase was on. It turned out to be a woman cyclist using a whistle instead of a bell.

Gardner James John Phinney found a tiny twin beet plant growing through the holes of an old button. The plant has pushed its roots through the button in a garden in Parrisboro, N.S.

ARE GOOD EATERS

Young birds consume more than their own weight in food daily during their period of maximum growth.

Obelenski's method so far in treating seeds has been to soak them for periods up to 48 hours, thus starting the germination process, and then applying the vibrator to a vessel of water in which the seeds lie.

The effect is seen in small plots of barley growing in a greenhouse. The plants growing from treated seed are an average of six inches higher than those not treated and already are headed out.

"It is difficult to explain simply the biological effect of the treatment, but it best can be explained by saying that the seed is 'shocked' into faster development," says Obelenski.

Dr. L. P. V. Johnson, professor of genetics and plant breeding, under whose supervision the experiments are being carried out, says:

"There's some indication, too, that mutations or hereditary changes are produced. In some instances, the resulting plants have been almost albinos."

Dr. Johnson feels it would cost far more than it would be worth to treat enough seed for a barley crop.

Born in Moscow, Obelenski left Russia in 1920 after the revolution and has since gained agriculture degrees at the University of Yugoslavia and Vienna.

He won his bachelor of science degree at the University of Alberta last year.

Alberta Farmer Develops Fast Growing Wheat

EDMONTON.—An Alberta farmer has developed a strain of wheat which may be the answer to the short growing season in northern Alberta.

A. W. Manchester of the Jarvis district, 80 miles northwest of Edmonton, says his wheat called "Early Harvest" matures two to three weeks ahead of other crops seeded at the same time under the same conditions. His wheat, developed by years of patient cross-breeding, heads out seven weeks after planting and yields 40 to 45 bushels an acre. Slower-maturing varieties used by Manchester yield 60 to 70 bushels.

Miss Shirley Wood and Miss Frances Kowenko leave Sept. 1 for Holy Cross hospital school of nursing

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Steveluk are visiting with his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Steveluk sr. a Grand Forks, B.C.

Mr. S. Murdoch, R. Pattinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Park attended the Allouette Stampeder football game.

We wish to make a correction on a birth announcement appearing in the last issue of the Journal. It was reported that a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Donaldson whereas it should have read a daughter.

Among those taking in the pleasures of the Kananaskis highway were Mr. and Mrs. R. Pattinson, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Ledieu, Mr. and Mrs. R. Campbell, Mr. B. Hill, Mr. J. Wilkie, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Cox, of New Westminster.

Twenty two guests gathered at the home of Mrs. Melville Cornett Aug. 22nd when a surprise, farewell hankieshow er was held in honor of Miss Shirley Wood. A game of what was enjoyed by all present with first prize going to Mrs. Annie Dick and consolation to Mrs. Shirley Lingard. Following this a wonderful lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Cornett and Mrs. Annie DeCecco. Shirley was showered with a lovely assortment of handkerchiefs where upon she thanked everyone present.

On Aug. 23, 100 friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Krish of Willow Drive on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. The table was centered with a lovely cake and many beautiful bouquets of flowers presented by friends. Supper was served by the hostesses Mrs. Edward Dase, Mrs. F. Krish and Mrs. Frank Rayman. After supper Mrs. F. Rayman presented them, on behalf of the guests, a lovely set of silverware. Mr. and Mrs. Krish thanked their many friends for the gift and surprise party. Dancing followed.

Tourist Praise Chinook Cabin Accomodation

The erection of two more units by Mr. and Mrs. J. Kerr of Chinook cabins testifies to the popularity of the Coleman tourist resort. The praise awarded this site by Prof. Fredbold explains this popularity.

While interviewing Prof. Fredbold at the Chinook Cabin, the noted geologist took time out to praise the accommodation offered his party and the manner in which Mr. and Mrs. Kerr carried on this business. Such praise from a man of wide travel experience prompted a closer look.

Chinook Cabins at the present consists of six units of rustic log effect, a fish pond, crystal clear spring water piped from the mountains and a panoramic view of the rugged mountains. Each cabin is complete in its furnishing, hardwood floor, electricity and plumbing. Some are finished in natural color and others in redwood. All are celled with donnacona. The office and store is finished in corded fir plywood with inlaid panels. Mountain goat and antelope heads stuffed by the proprietor and a bear skin rug add to the outdoors effect.

Both raised in this district, Mr. and Mrs. Kerr are naturals for this type of enterprise. The vast hunting and fishing experience of Mr. Kerr and the unaffected homelike hospitality of his wife affords the guest the opportunity of feeling at home for a relaxing stay or getting briefed on the district that he has chosen to visit. Mr. Kerr formerly operated pack trains and has taken part in sight seeing or hunting and fishing trips from the American border to Banff. His knowledge of this mountainous area is extensive.

Setinel Party Honors Departing Resident.

Approximately 40 friends gathered in the Crows Nest Lake Pavilion August 15 to honor August Mozon on his departure to his native home in Italy.

A long time resident in the district, Mr. Mozon has been employed by the East Kootenay Power Co. since his arrival in Canada in July 1927. At the gathering his friends and fellow workers presented him with a suitcase.

He will leave New York sailing for Italy on Sept. 5. A son Joe will remain in this country.

Pictures Will Show Need For New Post Office

A pictorial request for a new post office for Coleman has been made to the officials at Ottawa as part of a renewed and vigorous campaign that the Board of Trade hopes will bring some quick results.

Falling to receive action from countless requests the Board had Evan Gushul photograph the interior of the building when Colemanites crowded in for their mail and various other postal needs. This picture, will emphasize the run down condition of the present building and should show those in charge (the hand icaps facing the public and the post office staff alike).

RONALD MARCIAL LAID TO REST

Funeral services for Ronald Marcial were held in St. Anne's Catholic church in Blaimore, Monday August 18. Ronald, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mito Marcial, Blaimore, passed away in a Calgary hospital on August 15.

A White Mass was conducted at the church by the Very Rev. Dean L. Sullivan after which the cortege proceeded to St. Anne's Catholic Cemetery. A short service was conducted at the cemetery by Dean Sullivan.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his two grandfathers, Mike Marcial, Blaimore and Frank Horesji, Coleman.

PASS AREA WILL GET BOOST THROUGH C.P.R. CAMPAIGN

The long awaited breaks for the Pass area seems to be materializing these past months with hard surfacing of No. 3 highway and the announcement that the C.P.R. will emphasize the scenic Pass route for travel from the east to the Pacific Coast.

The latest announcement came through the Lethbridge Herald on Thursday when the passenger traffic manager of the C.P.R., H. A. Lee, of Winnipeg, made the company's aims clear to that Journal.

Efforts are being made by the C.P.R. to popularize the Crows Nest Pass as a scenic route to the coast, Mr. Lee stated. Agents across Canada are posted on the Crows Nest route and advertising is promoting it among the easterners. Results from this and the improvement of service last spring gradually is expected to build the use of the route.

Modern equipment is being used featuring the large picture windows and bed roomettes. Travel time to the coast has been cut by six hours from Medicine Hat by this new route.

Walter Nelson Thinks Best Days For The Pass Were Prior To 1914

"I consider that the good times for the Pass were prior to 1914," states Walter Nelson, one of the pioneers of Coleman. "Things look very good in some respects today but there were more prospects prior to 1914. There were more lumberjacks here than miners. Peter MacLaren operated a large mill where the hospital is today. Frank was the largest centre in the early days and boasted a smelter and brick yards although the smelter never operated. Blaimore had Lime Kilns, Cement Works and a brewery, while Coleman boasted of the International and McGillivray mines and lumbering."

Life was good in Coleman in those days. I often feel sorry for the young people of today, they get no fun out of life. Everyone here knew each other there was lots of sports and social get-togethers. Sports in the early days was for enjoyment and not to make money. Association football was the big game through the Pass, followed by baseball and hockey. Frank featured lacrosse while first class polo could be watched at Lundbreck or North Fork. The open air rink was opened in 1905 and built by volunteer labor. Frank Graham's father operated it.

Blaimore featured a half mile circular track and fine horse races were presented during 1907 to 1909. A twelve mile walking contest was featured there between Meadows and Fitzgerald on September 6, 1909. Fitzgerald was the winner with the time of 1:13.2 2/5 s. for the 12 miles.

Mr. Nelson has a copy of the winner at every mile and his time, showing that Fitzgerald covered ten miles in less than an hour.

Born in Springhill, N.S., Mr. Nelson came west in 1904 settling in Coleman that November, prior to that he had lived for a few months at Moyle B.C. when that town was booming. When he arrived here there was just the International mine and lumbering. A great many shacks were going up and already erected for less than $100. Sitting back in his chair he could recall with ease the business places here in the early days listing the drug store operated by a Mr. Sparks, the Hall over Chambers and Grady's Hardware where the Italian Hall is today. The Crows Nest Trading Co. occupied the corner now held by the Red and White, while the Modern Electric was the site of Coleman Mercantile. P. Burns' store was on the site of Zak's store. Two hotels served the town, the Coleman and the Grand Union. The present Freeman's store was the site of the Coleman annex of 28 rooms. This was destroyed in the 1905 fire. The Pacific Hotel now the Empire, opened in 1906.

The first magistrate in Coleman was Mr. E. Disney, while his recollections list Wm. Sandwich as the first J. P. Dr. Westworth operated an office where Bruno's shoe store is now, and had the honor of being the first doctor. The first minister locating in Coleman was Rev. Robinson of the Church of England, however the first church here was built by the Catholic faith in 1905.

Banking business was first conducted by the British American Trust Co., who were later taken over by the Eastern Township Bank and later the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The first school was held in a little building where the United Church Manse is today, later moving over a restaurant where Coleman Motors is now. A later move saw students receiving lessons at the present site, in the house now occupied by Harry Holmes.

Coleman was incorporated in the fall of 1910 and Alex Cameron became the first mayor by acclamation. Interest in politics was intense at that time, 14 men running for the first council. Successful candidates were Sam Shone, J. O. C. McDonald, Robt. Holmes, Jas. Hillings, A. M. Morrison, and Henry Janes.

During his time here, Mr. Nelson witnessed quite a few wild-cat strikes over local grievances, the agreement strike of 1905 lasting 2 months and the big strike of 1911 lasting 8 months.

Contract work was good in the early days and there were more contract miners than today. Company wages were low, they are much better today. Mine safety is better today as the result of more supervision, there being more inexperienced men working at the face years ago. Facilities for the injured have improved to the extent that what used to be a major accident is trivial at the present time. There was no hospital here at the beginning and the injured recuperated in a hotel room, a boarding house or in batching quarters. Electric lights and hard hats have done a lot to give this extra safety, the open oil lamps until 1907 causing many a serious burn.

Pass Area Industrially Progressive at Present

The Crows Nest Pass area is industrially progressive at the present time according to the latest report issued by the National Employment Service. Woods operations are reported increasing in number and volume, doing much to make this report so favorable.

A survey was conducted in the latter part of July of all bush camps and sawmills. All were reported in operation and there is an anticipated labor need in September for 70 millhands. This survey was made in an effort to place D.P. beetworkers at the conclusion of the beet work.

Mines lost some time during July and two mines remain on a 3 and 4 day work week. Strip mines are producing increased tonnage, and the coal cleaning plant is increasing tonnage per 8 hour day.

Drilling continues at the well site north of Coleman, and more drilling rigs have moved into the area 14 miles north of Lundbreck.

Hard surfacing and road work was held up for awhile due to the truckers strike.

The local office are finding it difficult in supplying mechanics, body men, cat drivers and drillers.

The Journal has Model 5 Remington Rand portables in stock and students who plan on purchasing their own machines to aid in their typing classes can secure one of these beautiful machines without a moment's delay.

TO OPEN FUR STORES FROM COAST TO COAST—To provide a fur coat "to $35-a-week secretaries," Cyril J. Ross, chief of Britain's largest retail fur establishment, is in Canada to raise $1,000,000. His firm, Swears and Wells, intends to invest a million dollars of its own funds to set up a series of branch stores from Nova Scotia to British Columbia to market medium-priced furs. The money raised in Canada and the U.S. will represent half interest in the chain of stores.

JAP WAR CRIMINAL RELEASED—Former Lieut.-Gen. Rensuke Isogai of the Imperial Japanese army is shown acting as spokesman for a group of 88 fellow war criminals in a farewell ceremony at the Sugamo prison, in Tokyo, after the 88 were released. The gates swung open for the war criminals as a result of ratification of the treaty between Nationalist China and Japan.—Central Press Canadian.

GRANTED POLITICAL ASYLUM—Dr. Jiri (Georges) Mares, 43-year-old lawyer-diplomat, who resigned as Czechoslovakian consul-general in Montreal and was granted political asylum in Canada, poses with his family in Ottawa. With him are his wife, (left), and daughters Helen, 16, (rear centre), Hanna, eight, (left front), and Marguerite, 10. Prince, the family's pet dog, was on hand too. Dr. Mares is believed to be the first ex-Communist among the lengthening list of foreign diplomats who have been granted asylum in Canada since the war.

PRESIDES OVER MEETING—The future of the CCF party in Canada is the main topic of discussion at the Co-operative Commonwealth Youth Movement convention in Toronto. Carl Hamilton, Saskatchewan delegate, presides over the meeting which has representatives of the party from all provinces.

NEW CHAIRMAN OF DEMOCRATS—Attorney Stephen A. Mitchell, 49, of Chicago, is the choice of Gov. Adlai Stevenson to be the new chairman of the Democratic national committee. Mitchell succeeds Frank E. McKinney, Indianapolis banker.

EXPLOSION BECOMES NEAR-EARTHQUAKE—At Glen Miller, near Trenton, Ont., residents were told there would be a blast as the bed of the Trent river was dynamited to accommodate the oil pipeline being laid from Sarnia to Montreal. But when the blast came, rocks were tossed 700 feet in the air, bounced off and through car windows, through roofs of houses and landed on the town's main street. As shown here, the entire river seemed to rise as the five tons of gelignite exploded, shaking houses off their foundations.—Central Press Canadian.

BUS COLLISION KILLS 34 HOLIDAYERS—Firemen and ambulance attendants are shown at the grim task of extricating victims from the charred wreckage of the two buses that collided and burned seven miles south of Waco, Texas. Thirty-four persons died and more than 20 were injured. The big vehicles, loaded with returning weekend vacationists, crashed together head-on at the crest of a hill. Police believe drivers may have been dazzled by each other's headlights.—Central Press Canadian.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

WANT-AD WIFE

By GEORGE EMRICH • • • Nora Was in a Good Spot To Get Her Man.

NORA reached over the counter and seized the sheet of paper from his tanned, muscular hands. "Is this the way you want your ad to read?" she asked, smiling up into his embarrassed face.

He nodded, swallowing hard.

Nora read it aloud. "Veteran, 37, wishes to meet respectable girl about same age with intention to marry and settle down. Have summer resort, no debts, lots of ambition. Please write, enclosing snapshot."

Nora bent over the counter, masking the twinkle in her eyes. "And you want this to run in the Sunday newspapers?"

"Yes, ma'am, and please leave all the letters in the name of Jim Whitman. I'm going out of town now, but I'll be in to collect them Tuesday."

"All right," Nora said, slowly. He paid her hurriedly and pushed his way out through the glass doors. Nora stood for a long minute, lost in thought, watching his figure as it disappeared down the street. Nora was thirty-five, an age when a girl appraises strange men with quick, penetrating eyes. What she saw was good. Some girl she seemed to be going to be awfully happy in that summer resort. It could easily be—

Suddenly she became very busy. The monotony of her time-worn duties evaporated. A smile hovered about her lips the rest of the day. Monday afternoon found her positively gay. Tuesday morning found her still happy, but strained. It was nearly closing time of that day when he stood again, in front of the glass doors, obviously torn with indecision. Finally he shouldered his way through and approached her.

"I have your letters, Mr. Whitman," Nora told him quickly, thrusting several assorted sizes of envelopes over the counter to him.

Fumbling, almost unwillingly, he began to open them. At last he beckoned to her.

"Look at this!" he exploded. "Not a single one of these women is under sixty! Did you ever see any—" thing like it?"

Nora was sympathetic to just the discreet shade. "Perhaps you didn't use the right words," she consoled him. "Why don't you try again?"

The young man brightened immediately. "That's a good idea. Perhaps you can help me write a good one."

"I can try," Nora offered smilingly. "I'll tell you what," he burst out, boyishly leaning over the counter. "Suppose you and I have dinner together tonight. Then we can discuss this matter more fully."

Nora yielded after a lady-like show of reluctance, and the two departed together at closing time.

Nora's mature but rather handsome features were beaming. Then one day she entered her department manager's office. Being a very perceptive person, he groaned as he saw the ring flashing on her finger.

"Don't tell me that I'm going to lose my star want-ad saleslady!" he cried.

Nora nodded happily. "I overdid the salesmanship this time. I answered the ad myself."

Nora and Jim were married the following Saturday and departed immediately, ducking an old shoe hurled by the boss himself. Jim lost no time in guiding the car out on to the open road. Nora settled back comfortably in her seat and counted her blessings. But Jim was restless and unsettled. Half a dozen times he opened his mouth to speak, then shut it again.

Nora giggled. "Jim," she coaxed, "are you going to spend half of your life in agony, trying to make up your mind to talk to your wife?"

He grimaced at her uncertainty. "I've got just one secret I must tell you. Then we'll start our life as an equal team. Promise you won't get mad?"

Nora nodded wonderingly.

"Well," he grunted, "I never intended to find any wife by that ad at all. I just used the whole thing as a chance to talk to you. I saw you one day when I passed through the building. Then I spent three days outside that door, trying to get up enough nerve to come in. Finally I thought up that scheme."

Nora's startled expression dissolved into bubbling, uncontrollable laughter. Even Jim was affected by her mirth and joined in. Finally she stopped, wiping her eyes weakly. She put her hand on his arm fondly.

"I have a confession to you," she told him. "I owe you a refund."

Digging in her purse she counted out the money he had paid to her the first day. "Here, darling," she said, "this belongs to you."

Jim looked at the money in perplexity. "What . . . ?"

"I never ran that ad in the paper at all," Nora admitted. "I gathered all the snapshots of old women I could find and used them in the letters I wrote to you."

The wheels of the car shrieked to a stop.

"You mean," Jim cried, "you mean nobody answered that ad at all?"

"Oh, yes," Nora said, demurely. "I did. But I was in a good spot to see that nobody else could answer."

Now it was Jim's turn to laugh. (Copyright Wheeler Newspaper Syndicates)

Rust Becomes

Major Menace To Sunflowers

WINNIPEG.—Rust, always a problem for grain-growers, has become a major menace to the sunflower growers who once had one of Manitoba's most promising industries.

In the rich farmlands of the Altona district 55 miles south of here many sunflower rot in the fields, abandoned by growers. An 800,000 plant at Altona works far below its capacity.

This plant processed sunflower seeds into cattle feed, shortening stalks. The hulls were compressed into fireplace logs. Ready markets for sunflower products brought new prosperity to the district, and land values almost doubled since the industry started a few years ago.

Now a decline has set in, with rust mainly responsible, although other factors have been cool growing seasons and insect pests.

Manitoba had 26,000 acres under sunflowers last year, but this year's planting was estimated at only 5,000. Efforts have been made to substitute other oil-bearing crops, such as rape seed from Argentina, soybeans and sunflower, a native of the United States. Experiments with these and other crops may prove successful but the best solution lies in creation of a rust-resistant sunflower. Research and plant-breeding to this end might require years, and meantime the sunflower industry suffers. 3000

MARLENE STEWART, Ontario's 18-year-old wonder girl successfully defeated the Canadian Women's Close golf championship and retained the coveted trophy which she won last summer. Marlene broke a four year record with a 54 hole medal score of 229, eight strokes under ladies' par at the Mairfair course in Edmonton and 12 strokes better than the old record.

Methods Of Harvesting Sweet Clover Are Very Important

WINNIPEG.—Sweet clover has become an important seed crop on the prairies in recent years. Harvesting methods are of great importance since poor handling results in an unnecessarily high loss of seed. Sweet clover should be cut with either the swather or binder when about two-thirds of the seed has matured.

If the seed crop is left standing beyond this stage, some of the early seed will begin to drop, generally resulting in a greater loss. The main principle behind methods of harvesting is that the material be handled as gently as possible, says J. E. R. Greenfield, Forage Crops Laboratory, Saskatoon, Sask.

Standard swathers may be used to cut the sweet clover. The farmer must first consider what size of swather his combine will be able to handle. However, unless the crop is very heavy it is possible to handle a 16 foot swath with a 12 foot combine. When the swath has had time to dry thoroughly, it is then picked up. The swath is often so fluffy that it does not feed into the combine very well. The difficulty may be overcome by having a man sit on the front of the combine with a long pole or hockey stick. Some farmers have surmounted this problem by mounting a small auxiliary reel directly in front of the conveyor from the auger platform to the first feeder.

If possible considerable seed can be saved by swathing and picking up in damp weather.

When swathers and pick-ups are not available the sweet clover can be harvested satisfactorily with a grain binder. The sheaves should be set in long narrow stooks. Some shattering of the seed normally takes place during harvesting. A shallow pan or box, attached to the frame of the binder under the opening between the table and elevator canvas will catch the seed that falls on the table canvas.

When threshing with an ordinary grain separator, best results are generally obtained when only one row of concave teeth is used and when the concaves are set well away from the cylinder. If most of the seeds are left on the seed the cleaning of the seed is simplified.

Straight combining of sweet clover for seed has not improved satisfactorily as much of the seed has dropped by the time the stems are dry enough to combine.

In summing up, harvest at the proper stage and handle the material as little and gently as possible.

Seventh Series Of Bonds Will Go On Sale In October

OTTAWA.—The Finance Department said Canada's seventh series of savings bonds which go on sale Oct. 14 will mature 10 years and nine months from the date of issue and bear interest at the rate of 3.44 per cent, if held to maturity.

Canada Savings Bonds of the sixth series launched last year had an effective average yield of 3.21 per cent, if held to maturity.

The department said the maximum limit for holdings in any one name remains at $5,000.

ERA DISAPPEARING

Prairie Plant Breeders Have Extended Range Of Ornamental Shrubs And Produced New Types

The range of choice in ornamental shrubs is being greatly extended by plant breeders. Horticulturists at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, have made many contributions in distinctive new hardy shrubs. In recent years efforts on the prairies have also been considerable and fruitful.

Apart from Experimental Stations such as those at Indian Head, Sutherland and Morden, private citizens such as Dr. F. L. Skinner, Percy H. Wright, Georges Bugnet, R. Simmonet and R. M. Muckie, have been the force in shrub breeding.

In reporting on the work done at the Morden, Manitoba, Experimental Station, Superintendent W. R. Leslie mentions some of the notable named introductions. The Almey crabapple of the Rosybloom class is a hybrid winning popularity. The vigorous tree bears bright red flowers annually. The small scarlet fruits are retained on the branches all winter unless eaten by winter birds.

The Prairie Almond, from a small Oriental almond mother and by double flowering plum pollen is commencing to be rated as more valuable than the pollen parent. The fine-textured bush with small narrow leaves is abundantly floriferous. The double pink flowers with red centres are succeeded by interesting red nuts. The fruits add interest to the subject.

In hybrid bush roses, Prairie Wren and Prairie Youth are distinctive. Prairie Youth is a growthy shrub which bears many rich salmon pink, double, fragrant flowers in June and July and a few thereafter into September.

In the late hybrid lilies, Coral with pink, Royalty with purple, Redwine with cerise-red, and Freedom with a great abundance of pale, pinky-lilac flowers appear to be valuable additions to prairie shruberies.

Tidy caragana with narrow ferny foliage appears in Southern Manitoba as more healthy than Lorberg caragana to which it carries resemblance although it arises from a different species.

Prairie plant breeders, says Mr. Leslie, are busy on many kinds of shrubs and vines. They are counted upon for a wide array of further new varieties of distinction during this decade.

FOR FUTURE ANGLING

PRINCE ALBERT.—The Saskatchewan fisheries branch recently completed stocking of 8,000 eastern brook trout yearlings in seven areas of the province. The fish were released in suitable streams in the Maple Creek, Arborfield, Nipawin, Hudson Bay, Big River, Lac la Ronge and Norquay areas. They are expected to reach angling size in 1954.
